

Marxism

Karl Marx and Fredrick Engels are the father's of Communism. They helped organize the "League of Communists" in Europe in 1846/47. There were numerous 'socialist' type of organizations throughout Europe, but they were mostly talk, philosophy and little action. It pits the 'Bourgeoisie' business owners and capitalists, against the 'Proletariat' working class. Their dream is to have the government control all things for all people. Today if anyone try's to imply there is a connection between Marx and present political power brokers or parties. They are scoffed at as right wing rubes. However one need not dig too deep to find the majority of liberal or progressive political movements are in fact Communists.

12 TENANTS OF COMMUNISIM

1. Limitation of private property by progressive taxes, heavy inheritance taxes, abolition of inheritance for relatives not lineal descendants – such as brothers, nephews, etc
2. Gradual expropriation (surrender of a claim to private property) of land owners, factory owners, railroad owners, ship owners, partly through competition with state industry and partly by direct compensation in form of assignates (paper money).
3. Confiscation of the estates, of all emigrants and rebels who are against the majority of the people.
4. Organization of labor or employment of the proletariat on national estates, factories, and workshops by which method, competition between the workers is abolished and factory owners, as long as there are any, have to pay the same high wages as the state.
5. Compulsion for work applicable to all members of society until the time of the abolition of private property. Formation of industrial armies especially agriculture.
6. Centralization of the credit system and money movements in the hands of the state through a national bank with state capitol, and suppression of all private banks and bankers.
7. Increase of all national factories, workshops, railroads, ships; reclamation of all lands not yet under cultivation and improvement of all cultivated lands in the same ratio in which the capitol, and the workers at the disposal of the nation increase.
8. Raising of all children in national institutes and at the national expense beginning at the time the child has outgrown the first care of the mother.
9. Erection of large palaces on the national estates as common shelter for communes of citizens working in the industry and agriculture and which combine the advantages of urban and rural life, without at the same time suffering onesidedness and disadvantages of both.
10. Destruction of all unhealthy and badly built houses and sections of the cities.
11. Equal rights of inheritance for legitimate and illegitimate children.
12. Concentration of all means of transportation in the hands of the state.

You can download the PDF of Engels "Principles of Communism" it's a little over 30 pages in the form of the 'The Little Red Library' No3. Published in 1925 by 'The Workers Party of America'. Too many Americans think they know what Marx was about, but very few have taken the time to read what he wrote. If you have read or listened to liberals in the World Economic Forum, UN, or Democrats about their vision for America. You can see where their agenda truly comes from, and where they want us to go. Problem is, someone still has to be in charge of everything. History shows, those in power do not live at the same level as the proletariat, becoming the bourgeoisie they say they despise.

WEF AGENDA 2030 GOALS

(Not a complete list)

1. Reduce/control CO₂ output to defeat climate change.
2. You will own nothing and be happy.
3. Digitally connect the entire world.
4. The U.S. Won't be the world's leading superpower.
5. Create cities where you can walk to everything you need.
6. Virtual reality will protect our mental health.
7. The middle class grows and inequality shrinks.
8. An end to all preventable forms of suffering.
9. Overhaul economic policy to move beyond GDP.
10. Use technology to make policies based on evidence.
11. A new kind of capitalism.
12. Hyper-transparency, making corruption a thing of the past.
13. Medicine for everyone, not just the rich.
14. Change our governance models to harness the power of technology for good.
15. Reduce consumption of meat. It will be an occasional treat, not a staple, for the good of the planet and our health.
16. CBDC

DEMOCRAT PARTY PLATFORM 2020

(edited for brevity)

1. Redress the systemic injustices that have long plagued our society. The republican Party have rigged the economy in favor of the wealthiest few and the biggest corporations, and left working families out in the cold. We will guarantee the right to join unions.

2. We will not rest until every American can access quality healthcare and prescription drugs. Achieve universal, affordable, quality healthcare.
3. We will end the war on government that has politicized our institutions, denigrated public service and left the American people on their own.
4. We will provide a world-class education in every ZIP code, to every child, because education is a critical public good.
5. Raise wages and promote workers' rights.
6. Democrats will partner with America's farmers, ranchers, and foresters to make the U.S. Agriculture sector the first in the world to achieve net-zero emissions.
7. Build a fair system of international trade for our workers.
8. Level the economic playing field. Reform the tax code to benefit working families. Curb Wall Street abuses. End poverty.
9. Reform our criminal justice system.
10. Build an effective, transparent government.

This is their platform for the last Presidential election cycle, it's 92 pages long. It is painful to read the entire thing, but buried within it you see the ever present hand of a bigger, more powerful government. They want total control over every part of daily life.

CONCLUSION

Never has there been a country that has embraced Marx's ideology and succeeded. The main factor ignored is human nature. All the parts of a country's economy run by the government beg corruption. The old USSR was a stunning example, coop farms and factories were given impossible quotas that couldn't be met. Work is never equitable, all jobs require different levels of exertion. Humans see this built-in inequality of output for equal reward as unfair and will shirk work wherever and whenever they can. There also has to be a chain of command on any job. The higher in the chain, the less work brings more compensation, or people will refuse the expanded responsibility of a higher position. One of the most interesting things about this new one world communist movement, Marx and Engels were both 'common men' from the 'middle class' of their time. The modern communists are all of the bourgeoisie class.
